BUCK

The Buck Family probably came from England originally. Where our particular branch settled first is not as yet definitely known, but it is probable that Abner's parents were either from Wethersfield Town, Hartford County, Connecticut or New Milford Town, Litchfield County, Connecticut.

There are reasons for both places. Abner enlisted in Col. Charles Burrall's regiment during the Revolution. Col. Burrall is possibly the same Burrall, Charles, that is listed in the Census of 1790 as residing in the county of Litchfield. It is highly probable that Abner would have joined up with a regiment from his own county.

The reason for picking Wethersfield is that there was a Buck living there in 1790 with the name of Amos. He was a man with a fairly well established family. He had at least one boy 16 or older, two boys under sixteen, and four girls in his family. Abner named his ^{one of two} second sons Amos. For this reason, the first Amos might possibly be a brother or a father.

Tradition has it that there were three brothers who came from England. Charles C. Buck heard his father speak about it when he, Charles, was a little boy. Charles thought that these were brothers of Noah. ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~
~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ That is, he thought that that was the way his father had explained it. One, Noah, was supposed to have settled in Stamford, N.Y. The second around Avon Springs (?), N.Y. The third went on farther west and was never heard from again. ² When Charles was a little boy, his father and mother went up to Avon Springs supposedly to visit relatives there. They brought back a sulphur spring water with them.

In July, 1946 a Miss Emily Buck was contacted in Lima, N.Y. She is a daughter of Ranson(?) Buck brother of Frank & Sarah, whom Levinga Butler Buck knew and visited.

Records obtained from her as follows:-

James Madison Buck (of Dutchess Cty, N.Y.)
m.

Esther Douglass b. Aug 6 1819

Mary E. b May 21 1845 ✓

Anna Louisa Feb 21 1848 ✓

Julia(elle) Toldema Apr 15 1850 ✓

Frank P Oct 27 1852 ✓

Joanson David June 10 1855 ✓

Sarah Elizabeth Apr 10 1857 ✓

These children were "cousins" of Charles P. Buck. All buried in East Avon Cemetery.

Was James Madison brother of Noah? ^{Could be?} Yes according to C.C. Buck. Probably his father was a brother to Noah.

Abner Buck was still living in 1829. Very little is known of his life before he came to New York State. His name is listed on the Census Roll for 1790 of New Fairfield Town, Conn. His family at that time consisted of 1 free white male over 16 (including head of family); 2 free white males under 16; and 1 free white female. He came to New York State about 1791-2 with a group of other settlers. They traveled by ox cart. At first they stopped at Roxbury then came on to Harpersfield, which was one of the first to be settled in Delaware County, and which had rather an interesting history during the revolution.

Pensioners, act of 1818, residing in New York State

Drummer Boy - 1779

This particular drummer boy was with the Third New Jersey Battalion. Abner Buck's uniforming was probably similar.

As soon as I have time I expect to resume study at the Library, and search for data concerning the possible Abner's brothers;
I have seen data concerning a will in Tioga County, which had mention of an Abner; will dated 1824, mentions a Thomas, Smith William, Harriet(which I notice is a favorite family name) and others. Maybe I will eventually discover some clues.

Mrs. Bevington - 5/28/42

Abner received a deed to lot number 89, township of Harpersfield, in 1792. (?) Most of this land is still a part of the farm of Noah Josiah Buck, Jr. Abner built a frame house on the west side of the road. In later years this house was moved across the road by subsequent owners (Peters) and a wing was added to it. It is still standing and has been modernized in recent years by a retired couple.

Lydia Benton may have been the name of Abner's first wife. Pearl Buck remembers distinctly that this name was associated with the early family and it does not seem to fit in in any other place. Whether she was living or not when Abner moved to New York State is not known. From the report of the census of 1790 it appears that she was not living at that time. Only one free white female was listed on the roll and Sally, the first daughter, was ^{seven} ~~six~~ at the time the census was taken.

Pearl Buck also said that Abner had a brother who came from Connecticut at about the same time and settled in Orange County.

Abner applied for a pension in June 1827 (under provision made by the Acts of Congress of March 18, 1818 and May 1, 1820). His revolutionary record is as follows: He enlisted in February, 1776, in the State of Connecticut, in the company commanded by Captain David Downs, in the regiment commanded by Colonel Charles Burrall, in the line of the State of ----- of the Continental Establishment. He continued to serve as a drummer ~~boy~~ in this corps until the last of November, 1776 when he was discharged at Ticonderoga by General Gates.

When he applied for this pension in June, 1827 he declared that he had no property that he was a farmer, and was unable to pursue a livelihood due to ill health - had a rupture in his groin and lame wrists. At that time his family residing with him consisted of his wife; Sally and Chloe, both of whom were in ill health; and Levi, who had been unable to work for the last two years.

After Abner's death he was buried in the north corner of the field across the road from the house. Later his second wife was buried beside him. The exact location of these graves is not known.

It may be possible that still a third brother moved into New York State about the same time as Abner came, but where he settled is not known at the present time. The reason for this belief is that one of the descendants said that Noah and two other brothers came from England (A tradition handed down to him) and probably this was meant to mean Abner and his two brothers coming from Connecticut.

Abner spent his last years with his children, who did not seem to get along very well together - especially was this true of Noah and his half brothers.

Probably no family history would be complete without the traditional ghost story. In the Buck Family it is said that for some reason or other Abner became enraged at the Peters family and swore that he would haunt them in later years. Elizabeth M. Butler, who married John N. Peters, one of the descendants of this Peters Family, is said to have seen or heard the ghost when she and her husband were living in the old house.

Note from Myrtle Dent says Abner came to Harpersfield when Noah was about 7 yrs old

He bought 100 acres of land for 100 silver dollars and settled building his house near Menzel's house (m. dent)

Date of Abner's death must have been after Oct 14 1831 and possibly prior to Sept 3
1834. (On the latter date a map showing

On March 15, 1794 Abner purchased from James and John Moore for £40 Lot #114 in the town of Haysfield. There was a Copper mine on the property, which was discovered in 1791, but the Moores retained the right to carry away the copper from it.

On July 23, 1796 the Moores appeared before the judge of the Court of Common Pleas in the County of Otsego and verified the transaction.

It was verified again in Bellevue City, after the formation of the County, on January 17, 1803.

The deed was recorded Sept 12, 1809.

A descendant of the Amos Buck Family (Viola Buck) said that family surname(?) was that Abner or his father was an Indian. This is given as reason for not being able to trace his ancestry. April Putnam also said (by Viola) to have some part of Buck family.

After his marriage Noah and Jerusha went to live in Roxbury, for a while. There their first child was born. He then returned to his father's farm and purchased some adjoining land from a neighbor. There was either a frame house on the land, or Noah erected one and in this house all the rest of his children were born with the exception of Harriet. This house is still standing. It has been moved back and forms sort of a rear shed to the main "homestead";  It is in pretty rickety condition.

In 1831 the main part of the present "homestead" was built. In 1857 the south wing was added to the house to accomodate Noah Josiah Jr. and his wife. In 1879 the remaining wings on the back were added.

In 1861 the west part of the present "Homestead" was built. In 1867 the south wing was added to the house to accommodate West Josiah Jr. and his wife. In 1879 the remaining wings on the back were added.

On February 23, 1821 Noah made a settlement of property with his father whereby he gave a bond to discharge the debts of Abner in return for land (88 ---) ^{287 #114} worth at the time about $500. Abner was to have the use and retain possession of the property for four years.

On March 4, 1824, Levi, Noah's half brother, having become of age and evidently urged on by his brother Amos, became dissatisfied with the arrangement made in 1821. So Noah agreed to convey property to Levi - retaining enough to satisfy him for the debts which he had paid for Abner. He made Levi give him a bond that Levi would discharge the remainder of Abner's debts. At the same time Amos prevailed on Levi to have a clause inserted obligating him to maintain Abner and his wife in addition to the payment of debts of which Abner was ignorant till long afterward.

As time went on, Levi's health began to fail. He was also considered to be in partial derangement of mind. Finally he became sick and was unable to provide for Abner, so, on May 6, 1826, another arrangement was made by which Levi signed his right to the property to Noah who gave a bond to Amos conditioned to convey the property to him when he should fulfill a bond to maintain Abner and his wife.

After a while Amos became dissatisfied and troublesome, and Noah found that they could not comfortably live together so they decided to enter into another agreement. However, they were not able to come to terms and so submitted the problem to arbiters, who awarded in substance that Amos should have part of the grain on the property and that Noah should pay him about $52 and retain the property besides paying such other debts as he had agreed to. Abner was then dependent on Noah for his livelihood.

Both Noah and Jerusha are buried in the Harpersfield Rural Cemetery.

The ages of Noah and Jerusha at death have been given as being 85 and 77 respectively. (Myrtle Dent - 1940)

Uncle Charles told us that Noah and two other brothers came from England.

Genealogy In This County

Beryl Pepple Monroe

By BERYL PEPPLER MONROE
GLEASON (Second article)

The Gleason family originated in Ireland but according to New England tradition when the three brothers bearing the name emigrated to America in the 17th century they had been living in or near Sulgrave, Northampton County, England.

One of the brothers Thomas, the progenitor of the Van Wert Countians, was born probably near Sulgrave, circa 1607, and died in Massachusetts in 1686. His wife (nee Page) died 1691.

The Gleasons in this area descend through a couple of Thomases and a couple of Bazaleels and as stated in an earlier article were pioneers of the county.

This branch also descends directly from the old and honored New England family of Howlands, also written about previously.

The Gleasons were farmers, businessmen, teachers and ministers. Allied families are Evers, Kiser, Royce, Edson, Pomeroy, Thorn, Flag, Potts, Mellow, Hovey, Bellows and many others.
